

IKE REFUSES TO STOP H-BOMB TESTS

President Also Balks at 1956 Tax Reduction

Calls Experiments In Pacific Vital To Guided Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today rejected suggestions that the United States call off the hydrogen bomb test in the Pacific next month.

He said such tests are linked inseparably with the development of guided missiles.

Mr. Eisenhower also said he believes no useful purpose would be served now by a visit of Soviet leaders to this country.

And he said he can see no logical reasons for reducing taxes this year.

HE TOLD HIS NEWS conference that as of now he is convinced it would not be in the good interests of America to lower tax rates. He made clear that this attitude would hold even if the federal surplus during the current fiscal year should prove to be considerably larger than the $200 million forecast by the treasury last January.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential aspirant, said Saturday the United States should consider halting the H-bomb test as a gesture toward disarmament. Stevenson yesterday also urged greater speed in the development of guided missiles.

MR. EISENHOWER said he found it paradoxical for a person on one hand to urge as hard work as possible on missiles and then ask that work be stopped on the H-bomb. The President said it would be imprudent to have one without the other.

The President said he had no reason to challenge the forecast by Khrushchev that Russia soon would have guided missiles with H-bomb warheads capable of hitting "every point in the world."

But the President added quickly that there is a very long distance between laboratory capability and the construction of a very expensive, effective and elaborate instrument of war.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS at Mr. Eisenhower's news conference today:

1. He said he had not received from Vice President Richard M. Nixon what he would consider a definitive answer as to whether Nixon wants to run with him this Fall.

2. He got a report this morning from Harold E. Stassen, White House disarmament specialist, on Stassen's talk in London last night with Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev, but had not studied it at sufficient length to comment.

3. He said he thought it was perfectly correct for Democratic strategists to make him, rather than members of his administration, their main target in the forthcoming campaign. He said matter of factly that he is head of the administration and he has been shot at before.

On taxes, Mr. Eisenhower said that if the government should find itself with a surplus of $1 billion or $1.5 billion when the fiscal year ends on June 30, it would be only common prudence to use it to reduce the national debt.

He noted that for the past two years the administration has had to ask for temporary increases in the $275 billion debt limit in order to get through the fiscal year. Faced with such a situation, he said, it makes sense to put aside some money to reduce the debt and keep solvent. That, he said, is what any businessman or housewife would do.

NORTH STAR IN THE DESERT

In the year 1909 your columnist came west, (then 22 years old) looking for Wild Women of the West. At Seattle on the pike of the Great World's Fair, I found her. She was a beauty, it took me all summer to get to meet her, she was a Queen, the Queen of the fun zone, a bright-eyed, cherry-cheeked, beautiful Eskimo girl, dressed in native furs. Night after night I went to the show just to see my North Star—then one night the lights went out—the fans stopped—a lantern was brought in and we were told to stay where we were till the lights came on. In the near darkness I worked myself over near the stage and for the first time I heard her speak—as she fanned air down the opening in the fur at her throat—"Mucho dam Caliente," she said. Yes, she was a Mexican Senorita from San Bernardino, and is on my mailing list today. I tell her she saved me a trip to Alaska and helped me to find the Desert.

Three Primaries Prove Little on Democratic List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Returns from three more presidential primaries today gave fresh evidence of President Eisenhower's vote-pulling power. But they failed to prove much, if anything, about the outlook for the Democratic nomination.

The primaries were held yesterday in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Alaska. In all three, only registered Republicans and Democrats could vote in their respective primaries.

Only Alaska provided a direct contest between Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver, chief rivals now for the Democratic nomination. The count there was too slow to permit an early determination of the winner. Stevenson took an early lead.

STEVENS'ON'S prestige suffered some tarnishing in Massachusetts, where he trailed a favorite son candidate, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, by a margin of about 3 to 2. Kefauver, who urged his Massachusetts supporters to vote for McCormack, was polling less than 10 per cent of the vote.

All were write-in votes. The state law does not provide for carrying presidential candidates' names on the primary ballot.

IN THE MASSACHUSETTS Republican primary, Mr. Eisenhower had the field to himself. In incomplete returns, his vote fell short of the combined vote for the three Democrats. But he polled write-ins on Democratic ballots which about matched Kefauver's.

Mr. Eisenhower in Pennsylvania and Alaska had nominal opposition from Sen. William F. Knowland because his second term announcement came too late for the California senator to withdraw. Stevenson was unopposed in the Pennsylvania Democratic primary.

Airliner Slides in on Its Nose

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A brand new DC7 airliner nosed over and slid 800 feet down a runway Tuesday night in full view of hundreds of visitors at International Airport.

The plane was damaged badly, but the pilot and two crewmen aboard escaped injury.

A United Air Lines spokesman said the luxury airliner was being delivered here from the Douglas Aircraft factory at Santa Monica.

Kettmann Points Out Inadequacies of Cramped Police Department

Chief of Police August G. Kettmann issued a report today through City Manager R. W. Peterson in which he listed 14 points of needs and inadequacies of present Police department facilities.

City council is currently studying the probability of building a new fire station on Indian Avenue and combining all law enforcement agencies and courts into one building—the one now being used by the police department and Fire Station No. 1 on North Palm Canyon Drive.

One year ago the city bought a piece of land on Indian Avenue which is currently being used for a parking lot, and since then has been marking its use as a fire station site, or for parking facilities if an off-street parking district is formed.

Today, the space situation with the police department is becoming critical, and Kettmann emphasized the great importance of a change.

In 1932, he said, the first part of the present building was built, and there were two men in the protection district. The next 40-foot addition was in 1948 when the department had grown to 10 officers. Today, 32 police officers are using the 34 facilities and sharing them with the Sheriff's office, FBI, county probation officers, state parole officers, constable, investigators from outside departments, newsmen, attorneys, district attorneys and investigators.

Kettmann went into each division of the department and reported that the squad room, also used as a locker room was entirely inadequate. Reporting on his own office space, the chief said that at times when his office is being used to question suspects or witnesses "I have had to interview or confer with citizens in the parking lot, in front, or at the restaurant across the street."

The use of crime detection equipment, such as the lie detector, has been ineffective because of the crowded conditions, outside noises and interruptions.

Other points of the report included: Difficulty, due to lack of soundproofing, in keeping prisoners from hearing their accusers giving statements.

Record Bureau already crowded in 12 by 18 space in Fire Department. Fingerprinting Ordinance requires that work be done alongside fire engine in Fire Department. Girls become ill because of fuel fumes. Lack of heating in fire station is uncomfortable.

Overlapping and noise conflict at secretarial, reception and communication desks makes for inefficiency and undue fatigue. Reception room too small—only two may sit down while three stand up. Capacity five persons.

Two small interrogation rooms 7 by 9 shared by Investigation, Juvenile, Checks, Intelligence and Patrol divisions often results in officers standing by awaiting use of typewriters and privacy.

Radio maintenance a problem

due to minimum bench facilities at rear of station.

Kettmann said the combining of the Judicial District Court, court clerk, district attorney and constable at one location could save the city up to $1,000 a month.

Kravitz Rejects Queries Linking Nixon to Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uniform maker Herman Kravitz refused today to say whether Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager interceded with the Justice Department when Kravitz was accused of stealing government cloth.

The pudgy, 35-year-old Atlantic City, N. J., contractor told the Senate investigating subcommittee that he hired Murray Chotiner of Beverly Hills, Calif., because he was interested in moving a clothing plant to the Los Angeles area. But he refused to say whether that was the only reason. He based his refusal on grounds his answer might tend to incriminate him.

Chotiner was Nixon's manager in the 1952 campaign and in previous elections.

Subcommittee counsel Robert F. Kennedy asked, "Did Chotiner take any action in the Justice Department for you?"

Kravitz refused to answer. Kravitz also refused, on the same grounds, to say whether he ever bribed any government officials in connection with clothing contracts.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators said today they will subpoena Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager for questioning about his legal services for a blacklisted government contractor.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) announced he will issue the subpoena for Murray M. Chotiner of Beverly Hills, Calif., who failed to appear for testimony today.

$100,000 Fire at Solana Beach

SOLANA BEACH (AP) — Fire early today destroyed a cabinet company plant and damaged a nearby building housing a cement mix firm. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Fire companies from four beach communities and the state Division of Forestry controlled the flames. Two firemen suffered minor burns.

BOW'S A WOW!

Trampled Fish, Ruined Dresses, Fainting Women Mark Riotous Debut for 'B&K'

LONDON (AP) — Diplomats said they had never seen anything like it. Neither had the staid Claridge's Hotel, the royal resting place of visiting royalty.

Vodka and wine bottles crashed to the floor. Platters of caviar and smoked salmon were trampled underfoot. Champagne and smoked oysters ruined women's gowns.

Some women were pinned against the walls. Others jumped on tables and chairs to escape the crush. One woman fainted and had to be carried out.

It was the Soviet Embassy reception last night for Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin and it developed into a vodka, champagne and caviar scrimmage with 1500 persons jammed into Claridge's ballroom.

A perspiring official of the foreign office said "Anglo-Soviet relations never had been quite so close as this."

The bald head of Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury, could be seen above the pushing and shoving crowd as he joined in singing "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" to the visiting Russians.

Bulganin and Khrushchev were jammed against a wall, their faces gleaming with sweat. Khrushchev grinned and chattered to the crowd around him. Bulganin looked bewildered and very tired.

Manager's Shift Up to School Board Tomorrow

With the decision only one day away—at the board of education meeting tomorrow night—Paul Summers, business manager of the Palm Springs Unified School District, today had "no comment" concerning his proposed re-assignment as a teacher.

The request was made in a proposed program of offering contracts to teachers of this district by Dr. Wallace R. Mueller, superintendent of schools. He asked that Summers be reassigned as a teacher of science and mathematics at the Palm Springs High School.

Said Summers to a probable future teaching career, "Fifteen of the happiest years of my life were as a classroom teacher," and he added that he has always thought of teaching as an "honorable calling."

To whatever action is taken by the Board of Education, Summers said that he has "always regarded the board of education's policy of hiring and firing as their prerogative."

When asked if he wished to make a statement prior to the board meeting, Summers said: "I have nothing to say... the only story forthcoming would be what develops at the meeting."

The meeting, which will be held at Frances Stevens school at 7:30, will be a regular session of the board, with the trustees having the right (when any personnel problems are discussed) to go into executive session.

Other discussions before the board will include discussion of the new school, and the consideration of a new pay scale for the teachers.

Claims Solution That Kills Cause of Tooth Decay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A dental scientist has developed a solution that kills the bacteria that causes tooth decay.

Dr. Charles A. Scrivener, assistant dean of the San Francisco College of Physicians and Surgeons, reported on his research to the 86th annual convention of the California Dental Association. Scrivener said his solution contains bacillus brevis, a harmless bacteria normally found in the soil and often in the mouth.

The solution is painted on the teeth. The bacillus then settles into crevices in the tooth enamel and stays there indefinitely, despite repeated toothbrushing.

L.A. Prize Posse Forgets Its Flags After Parade

The old adage, "I'd forget my head if it wasn't fastened on," seemed to have real meaning today, as Fire Marshal Warren Heath walked into police headquarters with his arms full of flags.

He reported that he had found the flags in the empty lot across from Village Market.

The flags numbered three, an American flag, a California State flag, and an organizational flag—inscribed, "Sheriff's Silver Mounted Posse—Los Angeles."

The bald head of Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury, could be seen above the pushing and shoving crowd as he joined in singing "For He's A

Kiwanians Here Meet by Phone with Canadians

American-Canadian friendship was emphasized by the Kiwanis Clubs of Palm Springs and Vancouver yesterday noon, with a 40-minute telephone conversation between members of the groups.

The call, first in the history of the two groups, originated from here, and on the receiving end were nine Kiwanis Clubs in the Vancouver area.

Mayor Florian G. Boyd of Palm Springs and the Mayor of Vancouver exchanged official greetings, and then the two clubs held an informal discussion.

Red Kenyon, vice president of the Village club, was present at the Vancouver session.

The Vancouver Clubs said that they would return the call next year, and proposed that it become an annual event.

Injured Strebe's Condition Same

George Strebe's condition today is unchanged at Desert Hospital, as he begins his fourth day there, following his accident Sunday morning.

Dr. J. W. Nevins, his physician, said this afternoon that Strebe is still unconscious "and there has been no essential change in his condition, though some improvement has been noticeable, it is not a marked improvement."

He explained that with an injury of this kind Strebe could "possibly not show improvement for another week or two, and again he could come out from unconsciousness tomorrow."

Strebe suffered a serious head injury when his car rolled repeatedly just east of Cathedral City last Sunday morning. He has not regained consciousness since arriving at Desert Hospital.

Bill Heads for All-Out Dixie Fight

House Judiciary Group Substitutes President's Plan

By UNITED PRESS

President Eisenhower's civil rights program cleared its first hurdle in Congress today.

The house judiciary committee substituted the President's four-point program for a broader bill sponsored by its chairman and sent it along to the rules committee for approval.

Southern Democrats, who had blocked a vote yesterday, pledged to fight the bill in the rules committee "with all the weapons we have."

Approval by the rules committee would clear the proposal for debate and a vote in the House.

THE JUDICIARY committee bill would establish a six-member bipartisan commission to investigate civil rights violations and would set up a special civil rights division in the Justice Department. It also would provide for civil suits where civil rights are threatened or abused.

The committee rejected provisions of a bill by chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) which would have spelled out anti-segregation bans in education and transportation and set up a permanent civil rights commission.

MEANWHILE Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) joined Democrats in demanding that the ballistic missiles program be placed on a "crash" basis to "catch up" with the Russians. At the same time, McCarthy criticized Adlai S. Stevenson, a Democratic presidential hopeful, for suggesting that the United States consider abandoning its H-bomb tests. He said this showed a "Stevenson administration would leave us at the mercy of the Soviet Union."

Les Whidden Enlists in AF; Mother's Idea

Ruby A. Whidden of 474 Hermosa Place, proudly watched this week as her son, Les, was accepted for enlistment in the United States Air Force.

It was her idea, with S-Sgt. Gerald L. Wilson, Riverside USAF recruiter, performing the actual securing of the signature on the enlistment papers.

New airman Whidden is on his way to the Parks AFB, Calif. basic training center and hopes to take guided missile or rocket training, then later become a jet pilot.

Mrs. Whidden, office nurse and secretary of Dr. Hugh Stephens, 1785 McCallum Way, was a captain in the Army Nurse Corps during World War II. She flew a lot while in hospital work for two years in Europe.

Nurse Whidden stimulated her son's natural interest in flying, reflected in his talent for drawing and hobby of building model airplanes. She feels that he will find a better place in aviation, through Air Force training and experience.

Les was graduated from Palm Springs High school, where he was a center and line backer on the football team, and he majored in aeronautics while attending Chaffey Junior College, in Ontario.

Gift Packaging, Plus Promotion New Innovation

"Package store retailers have an immediate and outstanding opportunity substantially to increase their share of the consumers' vast expenditures for gifts," declared Harry Herschberg, vice president of Seagram-Distillers Company, at a recent meeting of Seagram distributors and salesmen in the company's Western Division. The meeting was held at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

Herschberg cited Seagram's April-May gift promotion, featuring the liquor industry's first 1956 pre-wrapped gift packages, for its exciting stimulus to the merchandising of liquor for gift giving.

According to Herschberg, "the gift campaign integrates a large-scale advertising program with the extensive use of sales promotional material to aid the retailers to establish his store as gift headquarters. Each display ties in directly to the over-all campaign, heightening the effect of the advertising at the point-of-sale. The tavern is also brought into the promotion with displays suggesting, 'Whiskey makes a great toast... when it's a great whiskey'."

"This is Seagram's fifth successive annual gift promotion," he said. "We expect that it will accelerate the gains of the previous campaigns through the use of the distinctive pre-wraps of Seagram's 7 Crown, Seagram's V.O. and Seagram's Golden Gin."

Herb Richardson Returns to Home

Herb Richardson, publisher of the Desert Trailer News, this week was home from the hospital and reported recovering in good fashion from the effects of a heart attack suffered April 3.

He is the owner of the Desert Trailer Village at 432 East Andreas Road, Palm Springs.

During his illness his wife, Bernice, has been carrying on with publication of the trailer news.

Looking Ahead
HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—The temperature was in the 30's but the Water Commission was thinking about next summer. It issued an order regulating use of watering hoses on Sundays during summer months.

Rental Owners Cancel Meeting

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — The regular meeting of the Rental Owners' Association scheduled for next Tuesday, May 1, has been cancelled to permit members to attend the County Planning Commission hearing on the diagonal road to be held here that evening.

All association members are urged by the group's officials to attend the hearing.

The diagonal was discussed at the association's April 17 meeting. President Frank Kibbey spoke in support of the proposed upper diagonal.

Independent Oil Groups Oppose Proposed Oil and Gas Initiative

Independent California oil producers today challenged the so-called oil and gas "conservation" initiative as "a selfish and arrogant oil control scheme by major international oil companies to strangle competition and flood the State with Arabian oil imports."

The blunt accusation was made in a statement by E. G. Starr of Los Angeles, president of the Association of Independent Oil Producers.

Starr said that "this initiative came from the same nest that hatched two previous oil control bills overwhelmingly rejected by the voters in 1932 and 1939."

The charge that the "conservation" measure is a disguised oil control scheme was repeated in statewide newspaper advertisements published by the Association urging the public not to be "stampeded" into supporting it.

Professional petition circulators, hired to put the initiative on the November ballot, last week filed signatures with County Clerks in various parts of the State.

Starr disclosed that several hundred independent California oil producers are "unalterably opposed to this oil control initiative."

No Competition
STRANDBURG, S.D. (AP)—A one-ounce perch won a $25 prize for seven-year-old James Rufer. It was the largest fish caught during a winter fish derby at Bullhead lake. It also was the only fish caught during the day.

What E Bonds Can Do

On May 1, the government Series E savings bonds will have been on the market 15 years. The big push for the sale began in 1941, when Uncle Sam urged everyone to buy, both to raise money for the war and to take the inflationary pressure off of scarce consumer goods.

Since that time it has become fashionable to criticize the bonds as some sort of public betrayal. Investment pundits array the bonds' 10-year, one third increase in face value against almost 50 per cent drop in the dollar's value, point to the spectacular 10-year gain in the stock market, then conclude the E-bond buyer has been bilked.

Perhaps so, as of the present moment. But there are still many persons who insist the course of stocks cannot be forever upward, and who prefer the ultra-conservative type of investment that can be positively depended upon as long as the government and its whole monetary system is dependable.

We have a notion these conservatives are still numerous. And in our opinion it is unfortunate that the government from the start did not appeal to the conservatives by declaring, as it since has, that the bonds would be automatically renewable and constantly available.

It is an even worse lack of sales foresight that it did not dream up a hypothetical case of what regular purchases over many years could do in the way of providing — almost painlessly — Mr. Average Citizen with a backlog which would be dependable as long as the government itself endured.

For illustration, we have ourselves computed the startling fiscal results of regular bond-buying over a life-span. The narrative assumes that each bond purchase is held to maturity, is automatically reinvested, and that the 3 per cent interest is compounded semi-annually.

Suppose we begin our story with the arrival of the stork bearing John.

Jubilant father, the frugal type, buys the baby a $37.50 E bond instead of drinks for the house. Earlier at the hospital, while the others in the father's waiting-room spent their time practicing making triangles out of squares of cloth, he was studying compound interest tables.

He found if he bought a like one every month, their value at year's end would be $457. Better still, one a month for 10 years would come out $4998 — a hefty nestegg for any 10-year-old son. From such figuring came a plan for the infant John to get a $37.50 (cost) bond every month of its active life.

He sticks by the schedule. Sometimes it's tough when current emergencies seem to demand the money. But somehow, unfailingly, that $37.50 monthly goes into a bond.

Pretty soon it is fairly easy; the hole in the paycheck is hardly missed. By decade's end the habit is firmly fixed, and he has $4998 cashable bond value that cost him $4500. He decides it is too good a start to whoop off on current wants. Besides John's college career will start soon.

So the automatic reinvestment program begins, while the regular $37.50 purchases continue. They accumulate undisturbed for seven more years, their total value now $10,169.

Then John enrolls at state university. Dad's current income can't stand the whole load, so the bonds are tapped for $100 a month to help out. That's $4800 of cashing in four years. But still Dad keeps buying new ones.

The college days have nicked the pile for $4800, but the new bonds leave it depleted only to $7509.

Now John is 21, out of school ready to take off on his own career. Dad hands him the residue and the habit. So the buying program is uninterrupted.

At 25, John meets and weds the Indispensable One. This being quite an occasion, and the bonds now totalling $11,146, he feels justified in tapping them for a $1000 honeymoon. But despite subsequent settling-down costs, the new buying goes on.

At 30, John and his wife now have a growing child and decide a home and yard of their own is in order. The bonds add up to $14,206.

They are in a position to play it safe and solvent by paying cash for maybe a $10,000 house. They compute this would save $3624 interest they would otherwise pay on say $7000, 4½ per cent, 20-year FHA loan. That is the equivalent of roughly seven years' bond buying. Or they can, if John's salary warrants, pay down $10,000 on perhaps a $17,000 home at the same interest charge.

Either way, bonds are cashed to provide the $10,000. It withers the nestegg to $4206. But still $37.50 goes into a new one each month. For the next 17 years it continues without break. The total has reached $17,147.

Now John, himself 47, finds his own son ready for college. Again the bonds are tapped for $4800, the new buying never ceasing. That holds the net after college to $15,139.

Meantime John has hit 50 and feels the twinges of weariness. If his bond program is going to trot out the more abundant life, it had better start now. You can't, he has heard, take it with you.

A snug weekend cabin on a lake catches his eye, and the bond pile suffers a $2000 setback. But the buying goes on.

Five more years lurch by, while the bonds creep to $17,679. John's aging muscles no longer enjoy rowing to his favorite fishing spot.

So he splurges on a cabin motor boat. Price, $1500. There are severe reverberations at home and it takes a $1000 fur coat to quiet them. The bonds fork over for both.

Come 60, new bonds have rebuilt the pile to $20,047 and he is in the mood for that extra-comfy-dream house he never felt he could prudently afford before. So the bonds ante up $10,000 either for a $10,000 remodeling job or a sell-and-buy deal involving $10,000 difference.

At 65, retirement age, he at last quits his bond purchasing program.

It has been uninterrupted since his birth. At no time (assuming he started at last year's $375-a-month average for professional college graduates) did the program deprive him of more than 10 per cent of his income — most of the time considerably less. Occasionally he was able even to accumulate extra cash for more speculative investments. But the bond backlog constantly insured his living standard wouldn't suffer if the flyers turned sour.

On his sixth-fifth birthday he retires from his job and totes up the E-bond score. After $29,250 put into 780 bonds at $37.50 a month, he has spent $30,300 from them. And there is some left.

Well, Mother has been a good girl; hard-working, uncompaining. She deserves a retirement spree. A round-the-world cruise, he decides, would be about right for both of them. So the bonds are tapped for $5000 more.

On their return he finds the maximum Social Security benefits to which his past earnings entitle him, have started yielding them $127.50 a month; $85 for himself and $42.50 for his 65-year-old wife.

So he cashes in the remainder of his bonds. The total comes to $8090. He uses it to buy from a life insurance company an immediate annuity. At his age, the sum buys $50.88 a month for as long as he lives. Added to Social Security, his monthly income will be $178.38 until he dies — not bad with his home and all possessions fully paid for. — M.L.H.

'Relax... Sleep... Sleep'

THIS SIDE of The Sun

By Phat

A guy who makes
Many autoists burn—
Falls to do so
After signalling turn.

That device, affixed to the steering post which enables motorists too lazy to stick out their arm, to indicate their intentions, is a fine deal except—
When the thing sticks and the driver forgets to shove it back where it belongs and goes along with the little light blinking merrily at the back to the dismay, consternation and aggravation of the driver behind.

THE BOYS AND GIRLS who labor in The Desert Sun newspaper vineyard are happy this week. Besides working all through the day (a statement which might be challenged) they rallied nightly last week to put together The Sun's entry in the Circus parade.

As a result, there hangs a Red Ribbon in The Sun office—a second prize award.
Of course, they wish the ribbon were blue but take solace in "wait until next year." But for their work stringing flowers and punching in the top of cans, they get an "E" for effort, too.

SANDY COOPER, local FSP passenger agent, is leaving soon for Lake Tahoe where he will hold a similar job there during the Summer as he holds here Fall, Winter and Spring.

The FSP seems to make it a rule to send their Palm Springs representatives to Tahoe in the Summer when the local office is closed.

Apparently they figure they get good training here. The depot at Tahoe (Truckee) is far from the downtown office, too, and located so you can't see the town.

VISITOR WHO HAD been directed to an address in the extreme north end of the Village came back and commented to me:

"The man who laid out those roads up there either had a terrific hang-over or was constructing one."

On the subject of roads: that chuckhole at Alejo and Indian is still there and getting chuckier.

LA RUE WATSON sends in a suggestion. He sympathized with my efforts last week to find a rhyme for "circus" and suggested:

The days of the Desert Circus
Were filled with laughter and fun,
With never a feature to irk us
As told in The Desert Sun.

MY FRIEND in the white apron who polishes glasses and the mahogany came up with this one yesterday. He said two men out on the town shot the works at a night club. Cocktails, steaks, after dinner drinks and all the tab was $35.60. Came time to pay and each insisted on being the host. After much argument, they compromised. One washed, the other dried.

He also said that the only people who need liquor to do their best work are bartenders.

TWO THINGS I read last week I liked:

"In the Bop world, you aren't there until you're gone," in the "Instrumentalist," and in "Philnews," this definition of love: "A lot of dame foolishness."

IN CLOSING, "Some women are worth their weight in gold but it is usually the other kind that get it."—From "In a Nutshell."

Library Notes

"You and I know more and more about the world. Our American heritage of freedom includes the right to know what's being written and said everywhere. Your public library is part of this heritage. . . . Books are portals through which children enter new worlds. They find adventure and understanding and are thus better equipped for life."

"Your libraries all have trained children's librarians whose job it is to see that your child is introduced to the best books according to his tastes and reading ability. . . . It's fun to know more. Your public library with its extensive collections of magazines and government documents is ready today and always to supply the facts you need for your business or job."

"Our cultural heritage is the concern of your library. Enjoy the finest recorded music from the library's collection; or borrow music scores for practice or appreciation. . . . Public affairs are your private concern. Your knowledge and understanding of current problems are important to your neighbors, your city and your nation."

LIBRARY WORKER
Choosing a book is not the same
As picking out a dress or suit
For someone:
Body left is there to measure,
Whatever shape. But how to guess
The form of mind or mental bent
Behind a surface literary seeking?

If one could do some peeking into
Early childhood, it would help,
For there's
Where books begin for us
And in
No other way continue. The feel
Of covers, inky print, the smell
Of new cut pages—were these
For you
The deepest treasure, a tingling pleasure
Of yet untried experience on
The way?

Then as the afternoon began to wane
From final chapter they came Back to earth,
Found the way home from
Camelot again.
Comforted and defended they Gave forth
Bearing, against the everyday ordeal,
Excalibur, "which is to say
Cut Steel."

But there's a choice to make without Delay: "I'd like a novel, please!" And one
Must hand it over. It takes a quick,
Bizarre, incisive gift to size
The need and pluck down from the shelf
The perfect counterpart for Each particular self!

"The public library is quiet—but it's a busy 'bee-hive' quiet. Students, authors, gardeners, housewives, politicians, children, the blind—an endless stream of people come looking for knowledge or entertainment—and the librarian is their guide. The librarian performs a multitude of tasks we never think of. For instance, repairing worn or torn volumes. If you haven't been to the library lately, drop in—the librarian will be glad to see you."

MIKE CONNOLLY:

Doris Day's TV Offer

HOLLYWOOD—CBS has almost convinced Doris Day to make her TV debut in a 60-minute color spectacular in September. Dodo's show will probably be on film and co-stars will probably be Louis Jourdan, Barry Sullivan and Frank Lovejoy. They are also her co-stars in MGM's "Julie," which will be released to the nation's theaters at that time. . . . Sudden thought: Liberator's fans are like mother tigers protecting a cub. . . . Lunch at the Brown Derby with Abbe Lane and managed to break away just long enough to spot Buster Keaton breaking bread with Donald O'Connor, who'll play Buster in the silent star's life story. . . . Eleanor Powell heads up a fund for the National Home for Asthmatic Children, established in the name of the late Bob Newton, who had been an asthmatic. . . . Johnny Carson, too talented to be off the telebeams long, starts his own matinee show May 28. . . . Memo to yourself: When you go to Las Vegas to catch Elvis Presley and Johnnie Ray, don't forget your nerve pills.

One of CBS's publicity boys asked Jack Benny if he'd plug Look Mag's issue that includes a big spread on TV stars. Replied Jack: "But why? After all, I've already got two plugs for Look in the script. Twice I say, 'Look, Rochester' . . . Wonder what the airlines did to fill up those plane seats before the TV stars started making their regular treks between New York and Hollywood?"

SCREEN GEMS, which produces "Ford Theatre," "Father Knows Best" and "Celebrity Playhouse," is establishing a system of university scholarships to encourage TV writing. First schools to receive grants are the University of Chicago, Fordham and Iowa State, but three more are slated to receive grants within a few weeks. . . . Joanne Jordan, who has such a pretty way with the commercials on "This is Your Life," is recovering from polio and will be back before the cameras again soon. . . . Four ex-TV dramas — "Public Pigeon No. One," "Deal A Blow," "The Prowler" and "The Day They Gave Babies Away"—are being made into movies at RKO. . . . All proceeds of the Friars Club "Roastmaster Dinner" May 7 honoring Phil Silvers, will go to the Suzan Ball Memorial Fund for cancer research. George Jessel will be "Roastmaster" when they put Silvers on the pan—naturally—and some of the "Roasters" will be Jack Benny, George Burns, Milton Berle, Eddie Cantor and George Gobel. . . . Charlie McCarthy used to be Mr. Big in the Edgar Bergen woodpile. But that was before "Do You Trust Your Wife?" unveiled Mortimer Snerd as the strongest fan mail magnet. . . . Gower Champion took out a card in the Directors Guild and started right in directing himself and his Marge in their co-starring telefilm for Screen Directors Playhouse, "A Very Special Day." . . . CBS-TV still can't make up its mind on a new "Perry Mason," latest possibilities being Tod Andrews, Raymond Burr and William Hopper.

TALLEST HOMBRE in Hollywood last week was probably six-foot-six Chuck Connors after they put three-inch lifts on his boots so he'd tower over six-foot-six Jim Arness, as required in the script of a "Gunsmoke" episode. . . . Those kinescopes of the April 8 Judy Garland show that CBS shipped to 14 stations, were withdrawn by the sponsor, General Electric. Unofficial reason: Too much Garland cheese-cake.

After two years of sponsorship, Chrysler will drop the Mike O'Shea-James Dunn-Bill Bishop "It's a Great Life" June 3. . . . Willard Waterman, NBC-TV's "Great Gildersleeve," will be featured in the upcoming Martin & Lewis comedy for Paramount, "Hollywood or Bust." . . . Bill Pearson, the Pasadena jockey who whipped through with $64,000 on you-know-what program, has never been astride a bangtail winner that knocked off that much of a purse for him.

Victor Borge will do a TV-erision of his one-man show for CBS June 14. On Broadway where it ran for 849 performances, it was called "Comedy in Music," and that's what it'll be titled on TV, too. . . . Jeff O'Donnell and Aldo Ray admit they're still crazy about each other so why don't they forget about those divorce lawyers & kiss & make up? . . . Lucille Ball & Desi Arnaz's Desilu Productions now has 3,900 workers and an annual payroll of $5,000,000. . . . Please show those TV commercials a little more respect. A one-minute job alone costs about $3,500.

EARL WILSON:

What's Wrong with N.Y.?

SHANNON, Ireland — He was a Frenchman and he didn't like New York.

"What's wrong with New York?" I demanded, somewhat pugnaciously. Being a Middle-Westerner, maybe I have my own idea about New York, but don't let anybody start knocking it to me. . . . SEE?

"Oh, lewk," he hastened to explain, "I loff New York. . . . but eet ees not America, no?"
We had been fellow passengers on the Pan-Am Stratocruiser. . . . with a mutual interest in cameras. Until now everything had been amicable.

"What's wrong with us?" I repeated.

"Nozzing! Ackcept de crowds," he murmured.

"De crowds!" I mimicked. "You don't have de crowds in Paris?"

"Oui, oui, but in the subways, we say only so many can come in de car, and we don't crowd. Maybe you don't believe me, but when we leevd in New York Zitty, eet was zo noisise I cood not sleep."

"Zo my wife says we must move to ze cuntry."

"Vich we move to ze cuntry, New Rochelle. Eez zo quiet there, you know, I cannot sleep!"

"You didn't need ze cuntry, you needed a sleeping peel," I said.

"You joke me," he said. "But I loff Ummareeka very much. Vurrijunia, New Inglen, Texahess, Bosting. I had a secretary once, she went to New Jersey. She comes to me back and says, 'Ze first time I eivar see a cow.'"

"Cows are all right if you like cows," I said. "Personally, I milked cows as a boy in Ohio and got to know several cows rather intimately. Let us not speak further of cows."

"Hawkey!" chortled by French friend. "But I want you know I loff your cuntry. Of course your people cannot speak English zo good but then most of them never study it, hah?"

"However, New Inglen is zo beautiful, zo rastful. Especialitay, Rhode Island."

"Where?"

55,000 Mark in Prescriptions Passed at Ramon

Entering its ninth year of co-operation with doctors in safeguarding the health of Villagers, the pharmaceutical department at Ramon Drug, South Indian Avenue and Ramon Road, has passed the 55,000 mark in compounding prescriptions.

"This impressive record," says chief pharmacist Lloyd Mishlove, "is the result of our policy of careful study of scientific journals, of weighing and analyzing the announcements of all the latest research. We can then stock all the newest drugs and medications and anticipate the demands of doctors in our community."

Owner Hy Finerman attributes the store's large prescription volume to the fact that direct buying from manufacturers enables Ramon Drug to make purchases at greater discounts and consequently to pass these savings on to customers.

"There are many factors which build a store's prescription business — factors like store atmosphere, quality of merchandise, accuracy, cleanliness, and so on," he added. "We hope always to be offering our customers the correct combination of these services. That has always been the aim of Ramon Drug."

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

NEW YORK (AP) — British golf fans are in for a treat in late June when Ben Hogan and Sam Snead team up to represent the United States against the world in the Canada Cup matches.

Slammin' Sam accepted an invitation Tuesday to side Hogan in the International Golf Association classic at the Wentworth Club in Surrey, England, June 24-26.

But, down inside, Sam is hoping to play head and head with Hogan, against him, not with him, 10 days earlier, in the U. S. Open at Rochester, N. Y.

"I still think I can win the Open," the Slammin' Sam said despite the fact that he will be 44 next month. "Maybe I'll finally do it this time and then I'm going to try to go for a grand slam by staying in England for the British Open a week after the Canada Cup matches."

IT IS DOUBTFUL as yet whether Hogan will play in the U. S. Open. He has indicated he won't, but the golfing fathers think that the possibility of winning a fifth Open and leaving behind four-time winners Bobby Jones and Willie Anderson will prove too attractive a lure.

And Snead makes no bones of his theory that, if he was paired with Hogan on the last two rounds, he finally would win the title which five times has eluded him by the barest of margins. Four times he has been second and once, in 1939, he blew it with his now-famous eight on the final hole.

Sam admits that, in recent years, he has been troubled by "rabbit ears."

"Usually I play behind Hogan," he explains. "Well, I'll be going real good and then I'll hear a roar from Hogan's gallery. Right away I figure he's knocked in a birdie or something. So then I start pressing and there goes Sam."

PLAYING WITH HOGAN, he contends, would take away that pressure.

"If I could just see what Ben's doing it would be different," Snead insists, and his head-and-head victory record over Hogan bears him out.

They have tangled four times in playoffs and Snead won three of those.

If Snead should finally win the Open this year, he would be the oldest victor. Ted Ray was 43 when he took the Open at Inverness in 1920. And, with Hogan reaching 44 in August, they will compose probably the oldest team in the Canada Cup matches as they go against two-man teams from 25 other nations.

The oldest—and one of the best.

SNEAD DEMONSTRATED clearly recently that his game was still at a peak when he won the Greensboro Open and finished third in the Masters. Hogan, too, has been playing steadily and, considering his acceptance of a Canada Cup berth, apparently feels that his game is rounding into form.

Both of them are former British Open champions. Snead won that one in 1946 and Hogan in 1953. Seeing them play together promises a real treat for the British galleries.

But Sam hopes they'll be playing together first in the U. S. Open at Rochester, N. Y. Under those conditions, he feels, he finally might hit the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

The Arabs and Indians have met in two practice games with the former winner each time. Tomorrow's game is for keeps.

In other games tomorrow, Elsinore goes to San Jacinto and Banning to Perris. All four have 0-1 marks to date in the league.

Johnny Ravese, holder of many long distance swim marks, will compete with Tom Park, Canadian professional swimmer, next Sunday in a race across Salton Sea as a feature of the weekend's "Anchor's Aweigh" celebration at Salton Sea Beach Resort.

The Palm Springs boy, awarded a trophy as the outstanding junior long distance swimmer, and the Canadian ace, will go into the water at 8 a.m. on the Highway 111 side of the Sea, finishing at Helen Burns Salton Sea Beach resort. They will cover a 10 1/2-mile course.

Park holds the record for the Salton Sea crossing at 4 hours, 32 minutes. Ravese came within 3 minutes of this mark last Spring.

Another feature of the two-day celebration at Salton Sea Beach resort will be the appearance of Greta Anderson of Copenhagen, Denmark, one-time Olympic champion. She will seek to break the existing woman's record at Salton Sea.

Many events are scheduled during the two-day show with Coach Louis Carter, president of National Junior Olympics, making the awards.

Robinson Says He's Confident of Retaining Crown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Middle weight champion Sugar Ray Robinson arrived here Tuesday to polish off training for his title defense against Carl (Bobo) Olson May 18.

The champ arrived by plane from New York and said he would enter the ring with more confidence than he did when he met and knocked out Olson last December.

"I think I'm better prepared mentally for Olson since I'm the champion now," the 35-year-old champ said. "I'll be trying to knock him out from the first round, but I'm prepared to go the full 15."

Robinson planned to remain here today and leave for his training camp at San Jacinto sometime Thursday.

Boyer Booms Cards Near Top

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Cloutin Ken Boyer, sporting a stratospheric .566 batting average, is not only leading the majors in hitting but also the surging St. Louis Cardinals in their climb toward the top of the National League.

Boyer, who batted only .264 last season, drove in four runs and was pretty much the whole show in a 5-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night which put St. Louis within a half game of the top. In his last 20 times up, Boyer has hit safely 13 times.

All other National League games were postponed by cold weather.

The New York Yankees continued their fast get-away in the American League as young Johnny Kucks gained his second triumph in defeating Washington, 4-1. It was the Yanks' sixth win in seven starts this year.

Veteran Steve Gromek held the Kansas City A's to six hits as the Detroit Tigers won 7-4.

Other American League games were victims of inclement weather.

Padres Move Back Into Tie for 2nd Place

By DON THACKREY
United Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Angels and the San Diego Padres moved up towards the Pacific Coast League lead last night, but the Padres had to go farther to get the same distance.

The league-leading Seattle Rainiers split with San Francisco to give their pursuers a chance. Los Angeles took advantage of it with a 4-2 win over Sacramento to get just a half game out. San Diego also won, but the Pads had to go 14 innings to beat the Portland Beavers 5-4 in order to make the same move.

THE SPLIT HOME - OPENER scores at Seattle were 13-3 for the Rainiers in the daytime and 9-5 for the Seals at night. Vancouver dumped Hollywood 9-2 in the loop's other game.

Ed Kazak hit the single that broke up the season's longest game in the bottom of the 14th after a two-base error by Lloyd Merriman, an infield out and two intentional passes had loaded the bags.

Portland's Jib Baxes homered in the first inning to highlight a four-run outburst for the Beavers. Then San Diego tied it up with one in the first and three in the second.

THAT'S THE WAY it stayed from the second through the 13th. Big Steve Bilko hammered his sixth homer of the season, drove in another run and scored another one to lead Los Angeles to victory.

In Seattle the Rainiers pleased the afternoon-half of a split crowd with a 12-hit attack that smothered San Francisco 13-3.

Ed Sadowski donned the hero's robes. Sadowski hammered a grand slam homer off Larry Jansen in the seventh as the Seals scored five times and came from behind to take the game.

George Bamberger pitched the victory for Vancouver, although he had to have late-inning help.

London Parley Puts Singapore Base in Doubt

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The future of Britain's great Singapore naval and air base hinges on a conference in London next week.

David Marshall, chief minister of Singapore, will negotiate with Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd on the future status of that island crown colony which lies off the tip of the Malay Peninsula.

Marshall intends to bid for full independence. He wants Singapore to be an independent unit in the British Commonwealth of Nations. He is willing to agree that Britain shall keep its Singapore base.

But whether the negotiations succeed or fail, Britain may make a historic shift in its strategic position.

FOR ONE THING, there is some doubt whether Marshall could consolidate his position as Singapore's head man under an independent agreement.

Singapore could go Communist, and Britain must bear that possibility in mind.

Admiral Earl Mountbatten, Britain's smart first sea lord, is now on a survey of the strategic situation. He arrived in Singapore last week end from Australia.

There is talk that Britain might shift its Singapore base to Labuan, in north Borneo, across an arm of the South China Sea. There is even talk that Britain might base its defense on western or southern Australia. Mountbatten has looked into that possibility.

A SHIFT IN THE British strategic situation means a shift in the situation of the countries, including the United States, that belong to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Britain has just taken one blow in the area. Ceylon, to which Britain granted independence within the commonwealth, has gone neutral.

Solomon Bandaranaike, the nationalist leader, has announced that Britain must give up its naval base of Trincomalee, on the northeast coast. He says bigheartedly that there is no need for hurry. But for all practical purposes Trincomalee already has gone and Singapore may well follow.

SINGAPORE'S position as an independent country would be highly insecure. It is not generally realized that about 800,000 of Singapore Island's 1,120,000 people are Chinese. They are highly susceptible to Communist influence, because their homeland is now Red-ruled. Communists control the 40,000-man chief Singapore labor union.

Marshall, 48 years old, spectacular, fiery in debate and argument, is a moderate.

But his lack of a real authority is shown by the fact that he has taken to London with him an "all-party" delegation. This delegation includes the main opposition group, the People's Action Party. The People's Action Party, almost entirely Chinese, is strongly Communist-tinged. It might win over Marshall when an election is held.

Some British Conservatives are saying already that if Singapore is given its independence, Marshall will soon find himself a tool of the Reds. That might or might not happen. But even the possibility makes Singapore a somewhat dangerous site for a British base.

E. F. Hutton Inaugurates Automatic Transcontinental Electronic System

The first completely automatic high-speed transcontinental communications system specifically designed to meet the unique needs of the brokerage business was officially placed in operation yesterday by E. F. Hutton & Company in conjunction with Western Union.

This new type of electronic private wire system known as Plan 56 was developed by Western Union communications engineers. It gives Hutton's office at 170 North Palm Canyon Drive, immediate and direct access to Hutton's New York and Chicago offices and 20 other Hutton offices in the Far West, according to local manager Albert L. Coffy.

The system flashes orders to destinations with the speed of light without human attention. More than 2,400 units an hour are handled through a built-in priority device giving orders the right of way over all other communications.

THE FIRST OFFICIAL message to be sent was transmitted to Mayor Florian Boyd from Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles.

Chief among special features of the system is automatic priority in handling orders and reports. Each branch office installation has two buttons, one marked "priority" and other "routine." Routine traffic may be sent into the system at any time but routine traffic is automatically held at the switching center as long as there is priority traffic. Then routine traffic moves.

Noell to Play at Lake Tahoe This Summer

Teddy Noell, popular orchestra leader at the Racquet Club, who will continue playing at the Club Saturdays and Sunday through May 13, has accepted a position to play throughout the Summer months at the North Shore Club at Lake Tahoe.

Noell, who has been with the Racquet Club for the past several years, has what is considered one of the finest small dance bands now playing in the country. For the last two Summers he has appeared at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

The Racquet Club will continue full breakfast, lunch and dinner service through May 13, with dinner dancing on Saturday and Sunday evenings. Sunday's dinner is the popular buffet supper which is a favorite among Villagers.

To prevent rust on garden tools, dissolve two ounces of paraffin in a pint of carbon tetrachloride. This mixture will leave a protective waxy film which does not attract dust and grime as does oil or grease.

Vary muffins by adding finely chopped cooked bacon to the dry ingredients before adding the liquid. Also, try a teaspoon of jelly, jam or marmalade on top the muffins before putting them in the oven.

Party Precedes Christening of Miners' Infant

Although the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miner of Thunderbird Ranch, Estates, is two months old now, about 25 friends of the family surprised them with a baby shower Wednesday at the home of the baby's grandmother Mrs. Richard Del Ruth, who also lives in Thunderbird Estates.

The hostess for the surprise party, Miss Fern Fox, had arranged decorations of a green and yellow umbrella and refreshments which included a big cake.

On Sunday morning the baby was christened Berlanna Winship Miner, in a ceremony conducted by Rev. James Blackstone at the Palm Springs Community Church. David King of Palm Springs acted as godfather and Mrs. Robert Smith of Rancho Mirage and Canada, as godmother.

Lewis Cass, governor of Michigan Territory for 18 years and influential in the territory's admission to the Union in 1837, was Michigan's first candidate for the presidency in 1848. He was defeated by Zachary Taylor.

"WHITE MAN HE GO NATIVE" and that's exactly what Hank Gogerty, owner of the Desert Air Hotel, does during the annual luau he stages on the grounds of his famous hotel. Pictured with him is Hilo Hattie who needs no introduction to anyone who has witnessed a native Hawaiian show, never complete

THOUSAND PALMS

By IZETTA HUNT

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ainsley and daughter, Mrs. Olive Fleming, from Seattle, have been enjoying the desert sunshine at the home of a friend, Dr. Thomas Peden, at Hidden Springs, this past week. Mrs. Fleming was the wife of one of the five missionaries slain in January in South America, by native savages.

Robert Lentz accompanied his mother, Mrs. Herbert Lentz, to their home in Thousand Palms for the weekend, to join Mr. Lentz, who spent the week here. Robert Lentz has just closed the season playing with the Utah Symphony Orchestra and has joined with them again for this coming season, opening in October.

The Thousand Palms Chamber of Commerce is holding a special meeting Wednesday evening, with George Berke as guest of honor, at the Desert Moon Guest Ranch.

Charles Wallace, Jr., was host to a party of 15 of his friends, when they all joined together on the occasion of his 14th birthday, over a beautiful cake, with ice cream. Those present were: Phil-ly Singler, Anita and Jimmy Ross, James and Carolyn Ward, Freddie Barker, Dick, Quill, Billy Ryland, Valletta and Terry Hunt, Jerry Larry and Gene Henson, Jerry White and Colleen Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Manson Rogers spent the night here in Thousand Palms, and have now gone on to their home in Seattle, Washington, for the summer. They returned here from a tour of Arizona, and the place they liked the best was the Montezuma Castle where the Indians lived in caves in the walls surrounding a large Montezuma well. Mr. Rogers reports they like Thousand Palms best of all and that their official address from now on is "Thousand Palms" forever. They plan on a tour throughout Mexico starting this next October and then to Florida. Then they will settle down here, at home.

The Thousand Palms School Community Club will hold its last meeting of this school term at the schoolhouse on Tuesday, May 1, at 2:30 p.m. The attendance for the last few months has been on the waning, and it is hoped that this last meeting will be just as well attended. All are invited.

Only a few tickets are left for the dinner that the Thousand Palms Community Chapel Men's Club have planned for Saturday. It will be a Hungarian chicken paprikash dinner, cooked by John Papp, a Hungarian chef, formerly from Los Angeles.

Those who plan to attend, but cannot get tickets, may pay at the door. However, if possible, persons are asked to notify Dewey Wallace at the Grocery store in advance of their intention to attend.

The dinner will be served from 6 to 8 p.m. on Saturday evening at the Chapel.

Mrs. O'Brazik has returned to her home after an extended stay in the Community Hospital in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dalzell, North Dakota homesteader friends of the late Vern Hunt, and now from Oak Ridge, Tennessee, were weekend guests of Mrs. Izetta Hunt and the children. The Dalzells are godparents of Miss Valletta Hunt, who was born in Disney, Oklahoma, where Mr. Hunt and Mr. Dalzell were employed at the time, on the construction of one of the largest multiple arch dams being erected near Tulsa, Oklahoma. They accompanied Mrs. Hunt, Valletta and Terry, and the Chester Williams family to the Salton Sea on a picnic Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Jondrew, a sister of Mike Edwards, has returned to her home in Van Nuys, after spending a week with the Edwards at their Hidden Springs residence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bourne, Fullerton residents, were dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Barstow.

Mr. and Mrs. Duke Drummond have returned to their home in Culver City. The Drummonds have been here for a couple of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Doctor, from North Hollywood, were mid-week callers with Mrs. A. Kranz. Mrs. Bruce, from Los Angeles, came home with Mr. Kranz for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duran and family, Raymond Duran, from Mexico City, Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Duran and family from San Diego, accompanied Miss Carmen Duran to her home in Thousand Palms, after an extended fishing trip to San Felipe, before returning to their various homes. They met in Los Angeles, where their mother has been seriously ill, but is improving.

Upon arriving home Monday evening, Mrs. Horace Wiley was informed that she was wanted at the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Chester Williams, only to find that her children, Janet and Gary, were preparing a birthday dinner, baking the birthday cake, for their mother. Being 13 and 11 years old, respectively, that was quite a task.

Open House for the Thousand Palms School will be Thursday, April 26, from 7 to 8:30 at the schoolhouse. This is changed from the original date of April 24. All parents are urged to come out that evening to view their children's work. Any one interested in children is also invited.

Mrs. John Papp had a surprise last week when her mother, Mrs. Charles Steinmetz, together with some of Mr. Papp's relatives and another mutual friend, drove out from Los Angeles laden with gifts for Mrs. Papp, on the occasion of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mundy and daughter from Lodi, were down with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mills, for several days this past week. Then Mr. and Mrs. Mills accompanied Mrs. Carl Nichols and her daughter, Mrs. Joan Houser, to Lodi for four days with the Mundys.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Odgers and daughter, Karen, from Yucca, were in Los Angeles Wednesday evening. Later they were callers on her sister, Mrs. Harry Lennie.

$300,000 Swindler Didn't Read the Book
LOS ANGELES (AP)—An oil promoter client of noted San Francisco attorney Jake Ehrlich pleaded guilty Friday in a $300,000 swindle case.
Ehrlich is author of an autobiography entitled, "Never Plead Guilty."

Mole Maligned
KENT, O. (AP)—Although the mole is a frequent annoyance to home owners, it seldom injures trees, flowers or vegetables. Dave tree experts report that moles are often blamed for root and bulb damage caused by mice and other rodents that use mole tunnels as runways.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Cotner spent the weekend in Coronado as guests of Mr. Cotner's nephew, Lt. Commander and Mrs. Melvin St. John, at their home and aboard the carrier USS Essex.

The Monday Night Westerns at the Shadow Mountain Club are proving a great success. Smiley Burnette, known to all western program lovers, was a guest and gave the program for the crowd. Western clothes and square dancing are features of the evening.

Mrs. James H. O'Reilly gave a luncheon at the Shadow Mountain Club honoring Mrs. T. C. Buck, Jr., new daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Buck. The guests were Mrs. H. L. ## Conference on Real Estate Problems Attended by 400

Panel discussion of real estate licensee problems, conducted at the American Legion hall by D. D. Watson, Real Estate Commissioner for the State of California, attracted approximately 400 persons, the largest group ever to attend a meeting of this kind in the desert area.

Participating on the panel besides Watson were G. K. Nye, chief deputy of San Francisco, and M. R. Griffin, supervising deputy, who was moderator.

Terry Ray, president of the Palm Springs Real Estate Board, presided at the meeting, and Theresa Press and Burnham Bigelow were in charge of arrangements.

Deputy commissioners of the Division of Real Estate of California in attendance besides those on the panel were Paul R. Pope, Los Angeles; Josephine N. Pfander, Sacramento; and Ralph B. Bell, Los Angeles.

This was a new type of district meeting being conducted by Watson throughout the state, in an effort to inform real estate licensees of the operation of the Division of Real Estate, and of laws affecting their activities.

Chi Chi to Open Miss Universe Contest Here

The most beautiful girls in the world live in the Palm Springs Resort area.

And one of them may find herself climbing a magic ladder to fame and fortune.

That is, she will—if she enters the "Miss Palm Springs" contest which starts in the Starlite Room of the Chi Chi, May 15.

And that isn't all—

Other contestants—the girls who in the opinion of the judges wind up second, third, fourth, or even fifth, may be selected by some talent scout for a motion picture studio, TV, radio, or chosen to model for some famous couturier.

And that isn't all—

During the four elimination contests which take place one week apart, the winner, the girl who is the runner-up, and even the one chosen to be third, will win a valuable prize.

And the "Miss Palm Springs" contest is only the beginning. The winner will compete in the Miss California contest and the winner of that will compete for the title of Miss United States and then against entrants from many foreign countries for the title of "Miss Universe."

All along the way, winner or not, many girls and several from here who have competed during the past three years, have been offered golden opportunities. In one case one of the non-winners in the Miss California contest, an entrant from Palm Springs, was given two opportunities for screen tests.

Within the next few days The Desert Sun will carry an entry application for contestants to fill out. A girl may be sponsored by a merchant or private person, or enter without sponsorship.

She must be between the ages of 18 to 28, single or married, professional or amateur.

2 of Quadruplets Born in N.Y. Die

NEW YORK — Anxious doctors and nurses maintained a tense vigil today over an incubator where the two surviving Medina quadruplets fought for their lives.

Doctors said there was a "good chance" the two girls born Monday to Mrs. Carmen Medina, 25, would escape the death that claimed their pathetically tiny brothers but nevertheless expressed concern.

"I have a pain in my heart," the father, Ciprian Medina, 27, said Tuesday when informed that the first boy, Angelo, two pounds, 15 ounces, had died. "I was so very happy."

Then Tuesday night, Leonard, three pounds three ounces, died.

Irate Housewives, on U.S. Junket Condemn Slap-Dash Housing Projects

WASHINGTON — Irate housewives today condemned slap-dash "peas in a pod" housing developments.

They called for more individuality in housing and an increase in federal minimum housing standards.

The housewives raised the complaints as the National Women's Congress on the home of tomorrow went into its third and final day. One hundred women attended at the invitation of the federal housing administration.

Mrs. H. W. Furchner of Blackfoot, Idaho, started the attack on uniform housing developments. She said their lack of individuality led to sloppy upkeep and eventual "slum problems."

Mrs. Raymond D. Hull of Eureka, Calif., led the attack on poor quality building both in developments and general housing.

MRS. FURCHNER said more "individuality" in housing developments would give "more pride in ownership." She said it would erase the feeling that a development home is merely a stopping place for temporary owners.

She said she and her lawyer husband own a $25,000 ranch house. But she said she has watched rapid deterioration of nearby uniform developments.

Mrs. Hull, a vivacious brunette whose husband is a trucker, argued that families can't always know if they're dealing with a "reputable" builder. She said if all houses being built now are within federal minimum standards, "shouldn't those minimums be raised?"

She complained about sinking roofs, leaking walls and bad lumber used in modern homes in her neighborhood.

"If a grocer gives me a bad steak, I don't go back to him," she said. "But if I get a bad house, I'm stuck with it."

A sampling of discussion groups yesterday showed a majority of the women disapproving of slat roofs, picture windows "unless there's a view" and floor-to-ceiling glass walls.

A majority approved of newly developed construction materials, sliding or awning windows "for easy cleaning" and curving streets in residential areas.

The group visited Kaiser's Eagle Mountain iron mine Monday, and then inspected the plant at Fontana Tuesday. The business session was held Tuesday.

Approximately 40 top executives of iron and steel companies of this country and Canada were in attendance. Host was Kaiser Steel Company, with George B. McMeans, Oakland, vice president of operations, in charge.

The group visited Kaiser's Eagle Mountain iron mine Monday, and then inspected the plant at Fontana Tuesday. The business session was held Tuesday.

Lemay Wants 'Far More' Jet Bombers in SAC

WASHINGTON — Gen. Curtis E. Lemay wants "substantially more" B-52 intercontinental jet bombers for his Strategic Air Command than proposed by the administration, defense sources said today.

The blunt-spoken, cigar-chomping Lemay, who has been pressing the Pentagon for more long-range jet bombers, took his case before Congress today.

A Senate Armed Services Subcommittee on air power called Lemay for secret questioning about his bomber requirements and whether the Strategic Air Command (SAC) is in danger of losing its air supremacy to Russia.

With Lemay, the subcommittee had reached the heart of its inquiry. Democrats who prompted the investigation made no secret of the fact that their number one target is to increase B-52 production.

Defense sources said that Lemay in the past year has submitted several proposals to the Pentagon—all calling for far more B-52 bombers than planned by the administration.

While Lemay has not requested any specific number of B-52's, defense sources said he has outlined requirements for two to three times more jet bombers than provided for in the administration program.

Working Parts of Draw Bridge in Stockton Stolen

STOCKTON — Three men and a woman were charged today with stealing a large portion of the working mechanism of the Washington Street draw bridge in West Stockton.

They were identified as Eugene Fields, 41, of Los Angeles, and his wife, Lita, 41; Albert McDonough, 38, of Los Angeles, and Roy T. Spencer, 46, of Stockton.

City Engineer Marshall Dunlap said the insides of a 40-horsepower electric motor and other seldom-used working parts were removed yesterday from beneath the span, resulting in $600 damage. The parts were recovered at a local scrap firm.
